

BEST SOLAR-POWERED THEATER
The electric Lodge

Of course, it's probably the only solar-powered theater, although Dr. Joel Shapiro, owner of the thriving dance/yoga/drama space, says there may be another one somewhere in Canoga Park. Anyway, Shapiro's effort to launch a movement for practical, ecological performance spaces has been delighted by patrons, performers, artists and the DWP alike. The city even paid for 60 percent of the conversion costs. The 7.2 kilowatt-hour system situated on the roof of this converted '40s-era Masonic Lodge feeds straight into the city's power grid, which it then taps when the sun goes down. Talk about powerful theater! 1416 Electric Ave., Venice, (310) 306-1854.
